

Accepting differences

Cut out paper dolls so that they join hands. Show that it is okay to look different from other people. Colour each doll differently: different skin or hair colour, different features and different styles of clothing.

