THIS IS WHERE I STAND

WRITTEN BY PHILIPPA WERRY ILLUSTRATED BY KIERAN RYNHART

SYNOPSIS

A statue of a soldier stands in a square in the wind, rain and sun, every day and every night. The statue watches everything around him grow and the days, months and years tick past. Every year, people gather near the statue to remember and honour the soldiers who fought on their behalf. The statue remembers how he came to be there, travelling over blue oceans, sandy deserts, up steep cliffs and through ruined villages. He remembers the roar of gunfire, the silence of the graves and those soldiers who never came back. He also remembers those with dark, haunted eyes and tears. Although people have aged and the land around him changed, he does not. He is memory, and this is where he stands.

SHARED LEARNING AND DISCUSSION POINTS

During the shared sessions encourage students to ask questions to clarify their understanding of characters and events. Have them make inferences and predictions, relating to their own experiences. Read the passages aloud and have the students read alongside or by themselves.

Ask Your Students:

Look at the cover and read the blurb.

- Who is the main character in the story?
- What do you think this story is about? Why do you think that?
- What do you already know about the two World Wars?

CLASS ACTIVITIES

ACTIVITY 1: What's going on in this picture?

Photocopy four of the pages and blank out the text so the students see only the picture. Students then discuss what is going on in this picture. How has the illustrator shown that time has passed? Ask student to use descriptive words to write a caption to go with the picture(s).

plasticine, plaster of Paris, Sculpey, play dough, or papier-mâché. When it is finished, design a plaque and name the statue. For example, in the story the author named the statue 'This is Where I Stand'. Display the statues during Anzac commemorations. Extension activity: Draw the statue from different angles.

ACTIVITY 3: Book trailer time

Design a book trailer for the book. Use a software package like 'Animoto',

ACTIVITY 2: Sculpt it

Artists make models so that they can see the character from different angles when drawing it. Look at the pictures to see all the different angles the artist has drawn the statue from.

In pairs, students design/sketch a statue of a significant person that they will sculpt. Then decide the materials they will use. For example, air-dry clay, using one of their free templates. Storyboard what you want to say in the book trailer; collect photos, illustrations and videos (if needed), and then insert them into the Animoto template you have chosen. Show it to the class. See if the school library or website would like to include it on their site.
